María Sabina And Her Mushroom

María Sabina Magdalena García (22 July 1894 – 22 November 1985) was a Mazatec sabia, or curandera, who lived in Huautla de Jiménez, a town in the Sierra Mazateca area of the Mexican state of Oaxaca in southern Mexico. Her healing sacred mushroom ceremonies, called veladas, were based on the use of psilocybin mushrooms, such as Psilocybe cyanescens.

María Sabina - Wikipedia

Sabina would go to the mountains to ask the spirits for power to defeat evil. Knowing and understanding are not the same thing. Wasson's recounts of his relationship with María Sabina let us know more about her life than just the image many tabloids wrote about the old indigenous woman who smoked marihuana.
