“The Lotus”, begins with a conflict between the rose and the lily flower. The goddess of love, Aphrodite, approached the flower goddess, Flora to create a flower who would undisputedly be the queenliest of all flowers. Both the lily and the rose, used their “bards of power” in their fight over the queenliest flower title.

Once there was a lotus and a rose. The rose was very proud of its beautiful red colour and its magnificent essence which attracted every animal and insect towards it. On the other hand the lotus grew inside a dirty pond. Since it was at the centre of the pond therefore no one could touch it. The rose made fun of this fact and boasted about itself.
